Foreword

IN selecting the art theme for this book, we chose the motto of our college, the words which express our own ideals, if we are faithful to our parents' trust: "Learning, Industry, Skill and Honor."

Dedication

IN appreciation of their love, their trust, their sacrifices, which have made possible our years in college, to our parents we reverently dedicate this, the 1932 Tower.

Alma Mater

On the banks of Lake
Menomin,

Stands our Alma
Mater true,

With tower high and brilliant "S";

For her we'll dare and do.

We'll sing her praises
many,

We'll glorify her name,

And on throughout the years of time,

Our love for Stout proclaim.

Opportunity

□

There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries.
On such a full sea are we now afloat;
And we must take the current when it serves,
Or lose our ventures.

William Shakespeare

Very old are the woods;
And the buds that break
Out of the briar's boughs,
When March winds wake,
So old with their beauty are—
Oh, no man knows
Through what wild centuries
Roves back the rose.

Very old are the brooks;
And the rills that rise
When snow sleeps cold beneath
The azure skies
Sing such a history
Of come and gone,
Their every drop is as wise
As Solomon.

—Walter De La Mare

Come see the north wind's masonry.
Out of an unseen quarry evermore
Furnished with tile, the fierce artificer
Curves his white bastions with projected roof
Round every windward stake, or tree, or door.
Speeding, the myriad-handed, his wild work
So fanciful, so savage, nought cares he
For number or proportion.

And when his hours are numbered, and the world
Is all his own, retiring, as he were not,
Leaves, when the sun appears, astonished Art
To mimic in slow structures, stone by stone,
Built in an age, the mad wind's night-work,
The frolic architecture of the snow.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

My mind lets go a thousand things,
Like dates of wars and deaths of kings,
And yet recalls the very hour —
'Twas noon by yonder village tower,
And on the last blue noon in May—
The wind came briskly up this way,
Crisping the brook beside the road;
Then, passing here, set down its load
Of pine-scents, and shook listlessly
Two petals from the wild-rose tree.

—Thomas Bailey Aldrich

Little park that I pass through,
I carry off a piece of you
Every morning hurrying down
To my work-day in the town;
I take your trees,
And your breeze,
Your greenness,
Your cleanness,
Some of your shade, some of your sky,
Some of your calm as I go by;
Your flowers to trim
The pavements grim;
Your space for room in the jostled street
And grass for carpet to my feet.

—Helen Hoyt

I cannot always feel his kindness.

Sometimes he walks beside me, step by step,

And paces slowly in the ways—

The simple wingless
ways

That my thought tread. He gossips with me then,

And finds it good;

Not as an eagle might,
his wings folded, be content

To walk a little, knowing it his choice,

But as a simple man,

My friend.

Adapted from
EUNICE TIETJENS

The faculty,
to us, the freshmen,
were strangers;
but four years,
commencement;
the faculty,
to us, the seniors,
are friends.

ADMINISTRATION

BURTON E. NELSON, President

To the Anniversary Class

THE Class of 1932 has several anniversaries associated with this year to make the class unique. This is an interesting year in many respects. The thing that is uppermost in the minds of all students is the fact that this is the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of Washington. It is an important event in national and world history. It should be significant to the class of '32.

But that is not all that makes the year memorable. It has special bearing upon The Stout Institute and upon the educational history of Wisconsin.

This year vocational education becomes of age in Wisconsin. Twenty-one years ago this summer the legislature passed the law creating the vocational schools of the state. Twenty-one years ago The Stout Institute became a state school and was charged with the training of home economics and industrial education teachers for the state. Twenty-one years ago the first compulsory part-time vocational school in any state was organized and operated in Wisconsin. Twenty-one years ago the first director of vocational education in America was appointed and began a study of his problem. With us it should be a year of celebration almost as significant as the other celebration that commemorates the birth of the man who made this nation possible.

The time is near when we may begin the writing of the history of this great educational movement in the state and nation; and when it is written The Stout Institute must shine as a beacon light showing the way to newer and better things in the education of the Youth of America.

The Class of 1932 is fortunate in the possession of these interesting educational landmarks.

BURTON E. NELSON, President

RUTH E. MICHAELS

College curricula in home economics today are concerned with a study of the philosophies and activities which will help individuals live best in the social environment of their home and community groups. The curriculum of the School of Home Economics at The Stout Institute consists of work in the academic, professional and home economics fields. Academic courses give satisfactory background for the interpretation of the events of today's living situations. Professional courses offer opportunities for preparation in those fields of work which are educational in nature, and which vocationally are related to the activities of the home. The home economics courses emphasize the social values of some technical skills. Dr. Dewey's statement that all aspects of education are primarily social is the basic thought underlying the above curriculum. We feel that the organization of this curriculum with the opportunities for extra-curricular contacts at The Stout Institute offers a satisfying college career for the young woman, and it also offers an opportunity to participate in professional or vocational lines of work, and a background for advanced study. The young women completing this course should go out as socially responsible persons in any community.

RUTH E. MICHAELS

The School of Industrial Education at The Stout Institute offers a curriculum with a range and proportioning of opportunities to give the individual a modern college development. In addition to this, the required courses, plus the properly grouped selections in electives, give the graduates a preparation to meet the growing responsibilities and requirements of the teaching positions, of the licensing divisions of state departments of education and of the graduate school entrance requirements. A fine range of appropriate extra-curricular organizations supplement the curricular activities, and contribute to the well balanced social and professional progress of the students. The graduate is prepared for modern educational responsibility. His development in The Stout Institute prepares him to teach young people and adults, meeting their needs in modern changing conditions. It also prepares him for advantageous entry in modern industrial situations, if he so chooses. His work in science, mathematics, social science, English, education, physical education, and technical courses is designed in range, depth, and proportioning to prepare him for advantageous entry and participation in the broad range of activities in our present civilization.

Worthy use of leisure!
Extra-curricular activities!
They are not "inaction,
but a higher kind of activity."
Not so important
is what we do,
as how we do it,
and when.
From work or leisure
animated by a true spirit profit comes.

INDUSTRY

Work!

Thank God for the might
of it,

The ardor, the urge, the delight of it.

The School Sports

THE 1931-32 sports season started enthusiastically. Football practice began during the first week of the semester. A large squad was ably drilled by Coach Burbidge and Assistant Coaches Radke and Zimmerman. After drilling several weeks on fundamentals, the coaches cut the squad to thirty-three men. Several practice games were played, one being a night game at Winona. The conference schedule began with La Crosse. The other conference games were with Superior, River Falls, and Eau Claire. Twenty-two major letters, four minor letters, and four freshman numerals were awarded at the end of the season.

The basket-ball season opened in November. A large group of men, most of them yearlings, turned out on the hardwood court. The best men of the group were found by staging a wild-cat tournament. About twenty candidates were kept on the squad. Coach Burbidge kept thirteen men on the varsity team, while Assistant Coach Zimmerman supervised the yearlings. Zimmerman's squad scrimmaged the varsity twice a week. The Blue and White won twelve games and lost four. Eleven men were awarded major letters; two, minor letters; and twelve, freshman numerals.

The intra-mural sports were managed by William Murray. The various men's clubs competed for the school honors. The sports organized were basket-ball, bowling, tennis, and kitten-ball. The S. T. S. has won the first two sports.

The spring program was centered in football and track. Coach Burbidge handled the football tactics, while Zimmerman took charge of track.

The 1931 Grid Season

THE curtain on football opened with the Blue Devils playing a night game at Winona. During the first half the Blue and White had the edge on the Rivermen. The score at the half placed Stout on the short end. The second half was disastrous for the Burbidgemen. Hank Harmon came out of the game with a broken ankle. Rabbit Bruness did his share of making long runs. The last quarter was a punting duel with Stori starring. The score: Winona 13, Stout 0. Coach Burbidge put every man through some stiff workouts in order to beat Mankato. The Mankato game was the first on the home field. The first period was slow but thrilling. Joe Spitznagle and Bert Anderson showed their fleetfootedness by making several long runs. The first half ended in a scoreless tie. Stori again starred for the Devils in punting the pigskin out of the danger zone. The score: Mankato 0, Stout 7. After playing a hard game, the fellows were thinking of the Macs of Minnesota. The day was ideal for ducks, but not for a football contest. After a series of slides, the Macs came to victory with two touchdowns. Stout's second team saw action during the second half. Bud Micheels came into the limelight with his accurate passing attack. As the final whistle blew, the game ended with both teams sliding in the middle of the field. The score: Macalester 19, Stout 6.

Three non-conference games had passed; the Devils turned to harder competition. La Crosse was the first conference foe on the schedule. Again the game was played on a field of mud. With many men on the injured list, Stori was shifted to the backfield. La Crosse had the reserve material which brought a victory for the Redmen. The score: La Crosse 26, Stout 0. The next battle was with the St. Paul Luther College. The Apostles used their "shock troops" in the opening minutes. Before the first quarter ended, Stout had shoved over two counters. Ray Dondlinger smashed the line for three touchdowns. The game ended with Stout running down another certain score. The score: Stout 27, Luther 0. The annual homecoming ended with a battle with the Superior Yellowjackets. The sting was too great for the Devils. The visitors scored at will. Stori ended his season with an injured ankle. Ansel Anderson showed his ability in punting. The score: Superior 32, Stout 0. The Devils traveled to the Falcon camp with high hopes of winning. The first half was a battle for ground, but the Blue and White weakened in the final periods. As the final whistle blew, Stout was on the short end by a score of 33 to 0. The final game of the season was against Eau Claire. By a series of passes, the visitors pushed over two counters. This game was full of heartaches and thrills. The score: Eau Claire 14, Stout 0. The following men played their last game for the Blue and White: Dondlinger, Palmer, Micheels, Cronk, H. Harmon, Spitznagle, Bruness, and Biwer.

THE EAU CLAIRE GAME

1932 Cage Season

THE Devils opened the basket-ball season with Luther. Stout players showed supremacy during the entire game. Every Blue Devil saw action. The score: Stout 36, Luther 16. The Burbidge men journeyed to St. Paul for two days. While there they played St. Thomas and the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. The Blue and White won and lost. They lost to St. Thomas 34-20 and won 14-13. During the next week St. Thomas again played the Devils. The visitors were on the lead until the final minutes. The score: Stout 38; St. Thomas 26. St. Paul "Y" came the following week and was downed by the Blue and White by a score of 31-18. The conference schedule started with La Crosse. The Redmen could not get through the Devils' defense. After tumbles and thrills the Devils won 26-22. Eau Claire was the next foe. This game advanced in spurts. The Blue and White finally spurted to victory by a score of 38-31. On a cold night the Devils battled River Falls. After leading all the way, the Devils lost the final punch. The score: River Falls 37; Stout 28. Stout went to La Crosse. The Blue Devils failed to show their ability and finished on the short end with a score of 19-28. The Yellow Jackets came down to beat the Devils. Borg of the visitors brought plenty of thrills to the fans. It was a battle to the finish. Stout came through with flying colors. The score: Stout 33; Superior 28. The Falcons flew to the home floor to play the Devils. Stout took an early lead and kept the lead until the final minutes. Two baskets in the final seconds won the game for River Falls. The score: River Falls 27; Stout 25. The Blue Devils journeyed to the north to play Superior. The Burbidgemen were handicapped, due to the size of the floor. As the game advanced, the Hornets took the deciding lead. The score: Superior 38; Stout 22. Eau Claire closed the season by playing a close game on the home floor. The score of this game: Stout 28; Eau Claire, 24. The following played their final game: Buros, Johnson, Hoernemann, Micheels, Bruness, and Spitznagle.

THE WINNERS

Inter-Class Basket-Ball

THE final game for the Inter-class basket-ball championship was played between the seniors and the sophomores on February third. The play at the beginning of the game was slow, but the thought that this was the decisive game awakened enthusiasm.

The final score was 7-4 and the silver cup denoting championship went to the sophomore team.

Members of the winning team were:

Martha Bubeck
Marguerite Dodds
Phyllis Gray
Virginia Harms
Harriet Melges
Margaret Roettiger
Lillian Sieberns
Carmen Sprieter
June Trastek.

THE PHILO TEAM

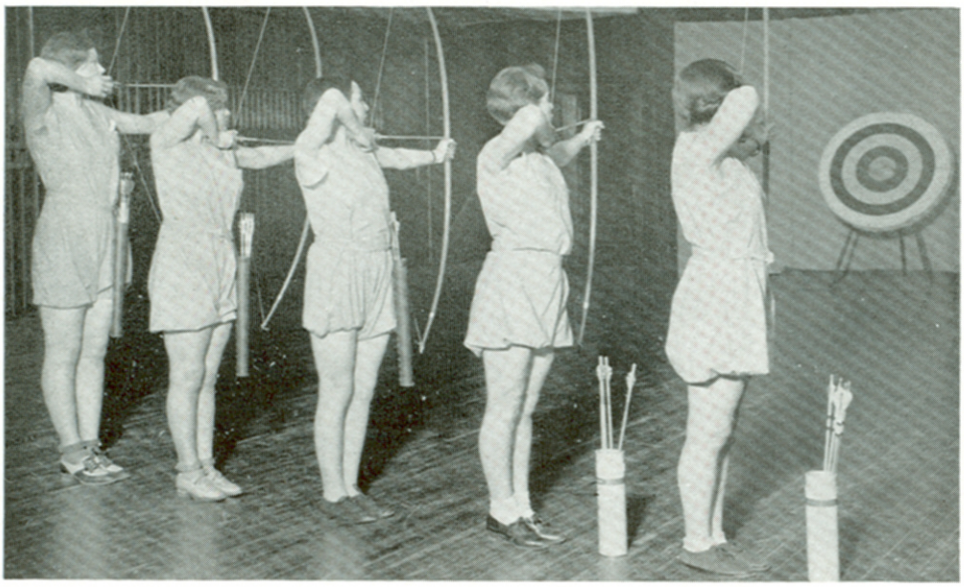

Inter-Society Basket-Ball

ON February sixteenth, the Philomathean Society won from the S. M. A.'s the decisive game in the inter-society contest for the basket-ball championship. The end of the first quarter found the scores running fairly uniform. At the end of the half, the Philos led with a score of 12 to 5. By the beginning of the fourth quarter, both teams were noticing the strain of trying to keep their balance on the slippery gym floor.

The S. M. A. team showed good fight but their shorter average height proved a handicap, and the final score was 22 to 5—a victory for the Philos.

Members of the Philo team were:

Katherine Graslie
Mildred Haggard
Louise Hobart
Clarysse Ness
Alice Ostrum
Lillian Sieberns

THE ARCHERS

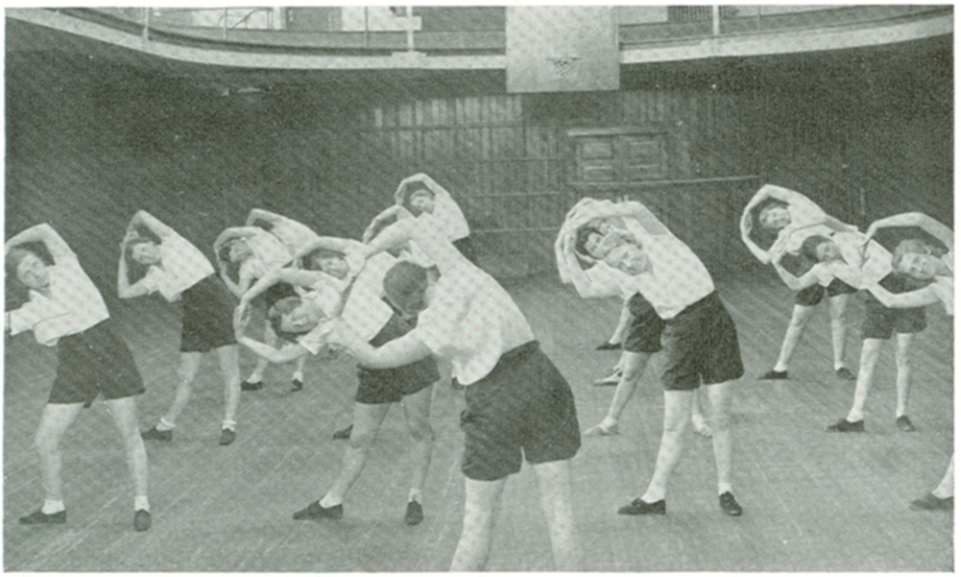

Archery

SUCH interest was created in archery that equipment was purchased and a Women's Archery Club organized. A noted archer was here for two days giving instruction in the fundamentals of archery. About forty students took advantage of the day and evening classes. An outdoor archery tournament was held in May.

Members of the club:

ONE OF THE CLASSES

Physical Education Classes

REORGANIZATION of women's athletics has brought variety and stimulated new interest. The outdoor work consists of fundamentals in English field hockey, tennis, archery, and organized hiking. The indoor work which was taken up with the approach of winter offered the students a choice of fundamental Danish gymnastics, clogging and character dancing, or natural dancing. Swimming is a required course. Fundamental Danish gymnastics gives an apportunity for physical development and the acquisition of skill. The student strives for flexibility, strength, and co-ordination. The two classes given each semester made up the largest of the women's physical education classes.

THE SWIMMING TEAM

Swimming

IN the swimming classes special attention is paid to the elimination of fear, to breathing exercises, to perfection of strokes, and to training in Red Cross life-saving methods. A variety of novelty stunts was presented this year at the women's swimming demonstration which took place on the afternoon of March twelfth. Some of the attractions were a candle race, a balloon race, a tub race, inter-class relays, floating group formations, a contest of strokes for form, underwater swimming for distance, a sculling race, diving exhibitions, and a life-saving demonstration.

THE DANCERS

The Natural Dancing Class

NATURAL dancing is rhythmic movement based on such simple motor rhythms as walking, running, skipping, and leaping. It is the interpretation of music by self-expression through movement. The student works for flexibility and co-ordination. Members of this class danced for the Campus Fete.

THE BALLROOM SCENE

The Colonial Ball

THE Women's Athletic Association introduced the idea of a Colonial Ball this year, it being especially appropriate since 1932 is the bi-centennial of Washington's birth. The ball was held in the gymnasium on the evening of February twenty-second.

Elected by the student body, Florence Verbrick and Steve Cvengros represented Martha and George Washington; Mary Jane Dodson and Karl Miller represented Dolly and James Madison.

Stout is admitted into the North Central Association of Colleges.

19. Another of the S. S. A. free dances. This one is a new kind. Stag, and ladies' choice. Did the men find out where they rate!

20. Home Economics Club tea. The cookies were also good.

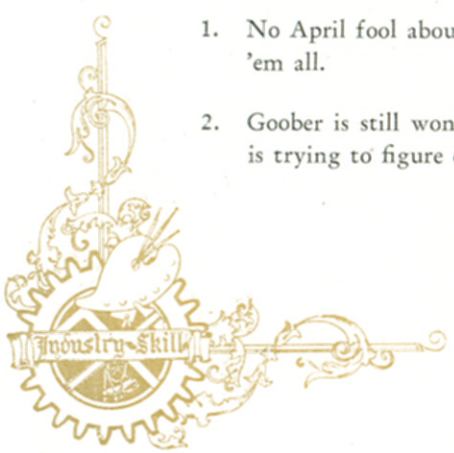

24. Tomorrow we begin our Easter holiday. Four days of nothing to do (?) and the quarter over. Not so bad?

29. Here we are, back at the job again. Even Reinhold is complaining about lack of sleep.

April

1. No April fool about this. The Women's Glee Club dance was a dandy. It fooled 'em all.

2. Goober is still wondering why he bit on some of the gags pulled on him. Knott is trying to figure out how he can remember some of the jokes for next year.

April—Continued

7. The rafters of the auditorium reverberated to the sweet voices of the Women's Glee Club tonight.

8. Even Al Rowe went to the Areme dance.

16. Whoopee! Another of those popular free dances. All of the Scotchmen go to the S. S. A. dance.

18. Last of the Lyceum course numbers tonight. Opera for to feast yo soul on.

23. Brother Jack showed the world today what a real prom king should and could do. Jake sure made a real job of decorating. The girls looked as though the depression had been history for a thousand years.

29. The M. A. P.'s spring play is a real success.

May

1. "Margy" Wood seen early this morning carrying a May basket in the direction of Second Street.

4. Enrollment in Lakebank and Canoeing courses steadily increasing.

8. Track and baseball have been first in the sporting circles.

11. Even the Lynwoodites passed up free ticket night at the Orpheum to enjoy spring's balmy breezes.

15. Have you seen the new Towers?

19. W. A. A. gives a spring tea. Delightful hostesses.

23. Baccalaureate address and Senior breakfast.

25. S. A. A. Frolic. Students as frisky as lambs in spring.

28. Commencement. We are near the end.

29. Goodbye! Good luck!

just out

meet the gals!

The Student Hand-Shaking Book

THIS section will be devoted to the attempted humor of the feature editors. Here you are supposed to find inside information and vital facts. If you don't find them, apply to the administration.

You will retain this for illustrative material. If you are advised to seek success in other fields, you may dispose of it, because there is no other school like Stout! Hip hip ——! (This is a completion test which you must pass before you receive your B. S., the degree which Stout offers for four years of hard labor.) If you can bluff, you will receive your sheepskin regardless of whether or not you look intelligent. Look at some of the men.

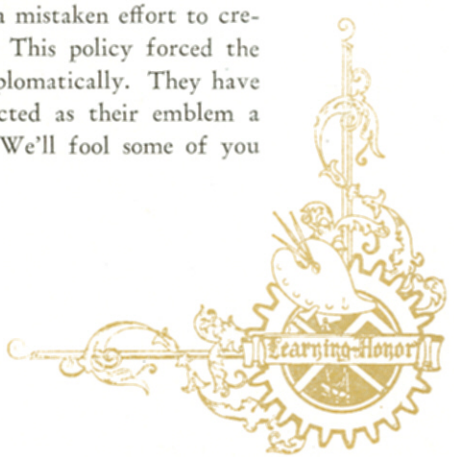

They are a product of Lynwood Hall, one of the dormitories, which are unnecessary evils built from old barns and various other appropriate buildings. If you come from out of town you are forced to reside in one of these until they are full. When they are full, you may live in one of the homes respected by the housing inspectors. The youngsters and underclassmen fill the dormitories. Bill Murray and Bill Hoeser are not breaking these regulations. They only act that way to maintain their perpetual youth. Carl Roll escapes because of his dignity as the president of the Stout Student Association and regulator of the Stout Social Calendar.

This calendar hangs in the hall for the benefit of those students who want to find time for a dance or a dance for the time. The social life of the school is upheld by the organizations.

Every student automatically becomes a member of the Stout Student Association. This is the student voice in the school. The voice is lifted mightily when the S. S. A. ticket law is enforced at games and dances.

The Stoutonia is the students' weekly. The editor appears to be a financially embarrassed psychologist attempting to force invitations by allowing frequent articles on "Dutch dates" to be printed. The rest of the staff makes an effort to be serious, but the funny headlines kill their efforts.

The Tower is the yearbook, a Junior class publication. In a mistaken effort to create novelties, last year's staff reversed the order of the book. This policy forced the 1932 staff to enter politics and attempt to arrange their book diplomatically. They have removed their brown derbies, rolled up their sleeves, and selected as their emblem a steadily increasing number of gray hairs and as their motto, "We'll fool some of you people sometime, or bust."

The Manual Arts Players is a theater art group. Their productions bring out much talent; such as Lyle Wines' ability to play the saxophone and the part of the leading man; Harold Strozinsky's beefing ability; Buck Nelson's disqualifications for an ideal husband; and Phil Gray's reform of a family tree.

The Stout musical organizations are numerous. The two outstanding divisions are Rosy's Band and the Junior German Band. These units are independent, sitting in on regular band rehearsals occasionally in order to obtain the services of a director free. The band and orchestra play characteristic music, a piece for every occasion and always the same pieces.

The Metallurgy club is another group of young men who aspire to higher things. They vary their aspirations from Stamstad's Tower Editorship to Butenhoff's, Steen's, and Pat Cronk's ambitions to make hits with the ladies.

The Science Club Boasts as members all who are interested in the progress of science. The most zealous members can be seen tracking centipedes and stray cats to their lairs. The fine art of creating explosions is a worthy club project which has been undertaken by members enrolled in chemistry classes.

The Stout Arts and Craft Club is a group of young men with hobbies. They nominate for honors four members of the Tower Staff and the Junior Class Prexy. For "barker" they nominate the one and only Jake who "will do anything that isn't work."

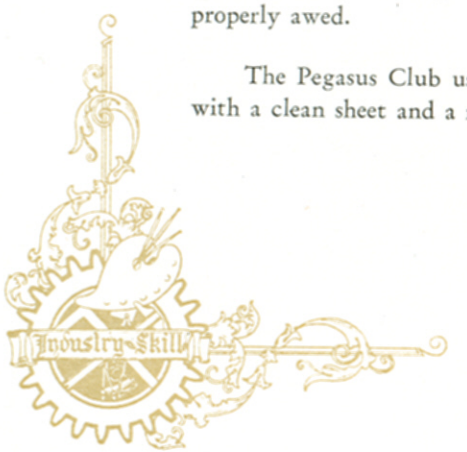

The W. A. A. is a group of girls who encourage strenuous exercise among the women of the school. They do not sponsor intercollegiate matches, but stress individual competition at their five o'clock pep dances and annual colonial ball.

The S. T. S. is a printers' society whose outstanding achievement is the development of nursery school technique. Swenson's anxiety for the well-being of his small charge was enough to make any mother trust him.

The Home Economics Club is open to all girls in school. It is continually trying to increase its membership. The girls have been very considerate this year, having procured several outside speakers to give guidance to those upperclassmen who haven't decided what to be when they grow up.

The Industrial Education Forum is merely a Home Economics Club for men. However, they allow only upperclassmen to be members. The reason for this: Freshmen arriving with a questioning mind may discover their defects before they become properly awed.

The Pegasus Club used to be called "Inky Fingers," but the girls decided to start with a clean sheet and a new name. Horsey idea! Eh, what?

The Stout Y. M. C. A. sponsors a stunt show each year. In the past they have done some startling things. In 1931 they forced an issue of the Stoutonia not only to be on time, but ahead of time. This year they overcame the flu epidemic by replacing the five stunts which withdrew with a play which appeared to be extemporaneous. The author blamed this on the members of the cast. We are withholding our opinions.

The Y. W. C. A. is noted for its family attitude. It assigns little sisters to girls who want them and big sisters to frosh who sometimes don't want them.

There are three women's societies on the campus.

The Hyperians won second place in the homecoming parade this year. The girls are persistent in asserting that they won on merit only. They combine brains and beauty in their membership. They hold excellent rummage and sandwich sales, and are also outstanding in making money on their dances, choosing nights when Eau Claire or River Falls will be here. They were well represented at the Colonial Ball this year, both Grand March leaders being Hyps.

The Philomatheans are the tall girls of the campus. That's how they won the cage championship. The Gordon House and Quarters and Foeller play ball for them. Grace Quarters won the second place for them at the Stunt Show with her red hair which startled the judges into awarding the five dollar gold piece.

The S. M. A.'s looked like a town society until they took their pledges in. After their successful balloon dance, they were so inflated that they decided to give a bridge tea to whoever had enough money to buy a ticket.

The F. O. B. is a men's club whose object is fraternalism. They scored a hit when they donated a new score board to the Armory. Inquiries for further information may be made at "The Sign of the Black Derby."

The K. F. S. is another men's organization. Their contribution to the aesthetic elements in Stout is curly hair for men.

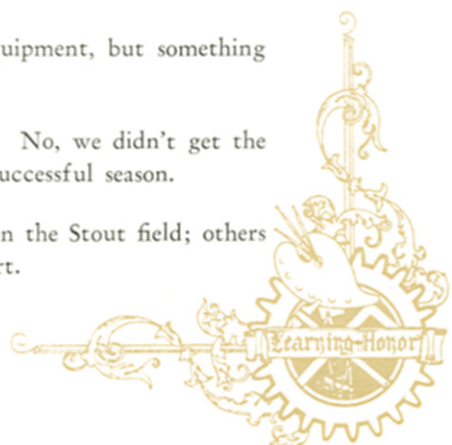

The girls are wondering when these two organizations will sponsor a return match to the mid-winter ball.

ATHLETICS

We had a football season, rivals, players, a coach, and equipment, but something was lacking. The boys should try grapenuts for breakfast.

The basket-ball season found us looking up and grinning. No, we didn't get the championship, but we won from the champs once and had a successful season.

Track competition is keen in Stout. Some men practice on the Stout field; others prefer the lakebank track for their activities in this minor sport.

Thank You

IN closing the 1932 Tower, the Staff wishes to make grateful acknowledgment to those who have made this publication possible. To the advisers and to other instructors for their helpful counsel; to the students for their generous response to all requests; to the advertisers for their live interest in the school and its yearbook, the builders of this book express their sincere thanks.
